WASHINGTON GOSSIP

[illegible] WHITE HOUSE [illegible]

WASHINGTON Dec [illegible]—Some time [illegible] the Sun printed a list of the cotton cases decided in the Court of Claims against the United States and appealed by order of the Attorney General and said that in a majority of these cases the appeals were dismissed in a single day The cases in which appeal were entered represented judgments to the amount of $[illegible] 40 The lawyer from the Department of Justice who defended all the cases was very much surprised when he learned that appeals had been taken in these cases as he had not discovered any new facts connected with them and had not recommended any such action It is said he went to the Attorney General and inquired what important discoveries had been made adding that the Department had not decided to carry these cases to the Supreme Court He was told that the new Assistant Attorney General, Mr Goforth and the Attorney General, had decided that appeals should be taken in order that they might have an opportunity to examine them at their leisure

On the 14th of November the appeals in seventeen cases representing judgments to the amount of $[illegible],711 13, were dismissed It seems that a vast deal of capital had been floating about Washington in regard to these same cotton cases and the publication of the letter in the Sun just before Williams was nominated for Chief Justice caused the matter to [illegible] the Judiciary Committee of the Senate It was charged that female influence had [illegible] the dismissal of all appeals and [illegible] sufficient gravity [illegible] The wives of certain Cabinet officers [illegible] Mrs Williams [illegible] brought all their influence to bear on the members of the Judiciary Committee to secure a report favorable to the Attorney General [illegible] alleged that Mr Williams [illegible] profited thereby This [illegible] Mrs Williams [illegible] the whole truth

Judge Lewis Dent and Jim Casey [illegible] when the appeals were taken [illegible] Mr Dent and Mr Casey called on the Attorney General [illegible] residence [illegible]

On motion of Wright the House salary bill was taken up with the Senate Civil Service Committee's amendment which repeal the law of March 1873 and put salaries back to the old figures except as to Cabinet officers which are fixed at $[illegible]

Wright supported the bill [illegible] and the [illegible] expiring it went over [illegible] Committee [illegible] the holiday [illegible] the duty of Congress at present to adopt [illegible] measures to redeem the pledge made by the Government for the earliest practical redemption of the United States notes in coin was taken up

Bogy addressed the Senate He believed the whole legal tender system vicious but the country wanted and must have speedy relief He alluded to the unequal distributions of currency among the different portions of the country and advocated the issue of the forty four millions reserve an additional issue of fifty millions legal tenders and an issue of twenty five millions national bank notes.

The consideration of the salary bill was then resumed.

Pratt offered an amendment that such members of the Forty third Congress as have received pay at the rate of $7 500 since March 4th 1873 be paid in such monthly installments as will make it aggregate for the whole Congress at the rate of $5 000 per annum

Logan opposed the amendment, Personally he thought the present salaries not too high but he will oppose any bill that does not wipe out the entire salary, except as it related to the President and Supreme Court

Thurman favored and Morrill and Stewart opposed the amendment

Wright gave notice that to morrow he would endeavor to press the salary bill to a vote and he hoped Senators would remain until it is disposed of Adjourned

The House then resumed consideration of the Supplementary Civil Rights bill

Frye favored the bill

Stephens of Georgia desired to address the House and asked that the time be extended to an hour which after some objection was [illegible] allowed and he proceeded to read a speech in opposition to the bill He asserted that his opposition to the bill was not from any prejudice against colored people He believed all men were created equal but he opposed any kindred measure because of a want of the necessary constitutional power by Congress to pass it He contended that no new power has been conferred on Congress by either the [illegible] or fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution [illegible] Congress should provide by law that any [illegible] in violation of the rights of citizens [illegible] be null and void He also opposed the bill on account of its expediency and declared his belief that the colored people of Georgia did not [illegible] want it They had their own churches and schools and did not desire [illegible] He [illegible] Democratic Republican principles, which he [illegible]

Myers Jacobson of the firm of Jacobson Bros on Camas Prairie while on his way to Lewiston one day last week had the misfortune to lose about six thousand dollars It seems that he was riding horseback with the money in his cantenas on the horn of the saddle He stopped and dismounted to gird up his saddle, and while doing so the horse got away from him and when found the cantenas were not on the saddle they were picked up some distance from where the horse was caught and found to be bursted open and the money gone Up to last accounts it had not been found though search for it has been prosecuted with eagerness as well might be supposed

The following is a partial list of the good works that the Steilacoom Express requires at the hands of Delegate McFadden in the way of Congressional legislation They are needed by the people of the Territory and we can but hope that the Express may not be disappointed It wants the Skagit and Chehalis rivers cleared of impediments to navigation a good wagon road over the Cascade mountains from the Yakima valley to Puget Sound the penitentiary must be completed at least the main building added to the present wing and the whole fitted up for the reception and comfort of the guests the [illegible] of two Indian reservations in Pierce county [illegible] the abolishment of one of them the Puyallup [illegible] a pro[illegible] of $1[illegible] will do it the fact that many of the [illegible] have [illegible] the Government [illegible] be forgotten [illegible] to urge their [illegible]

In the San Francisco Post of a recent date we find this Our friend Colonel Saxe the great importer of fine stock for the past few years, has just returned from Oregon after a six months absence In the meantime he has traversed that State for over 400 miles east (up the Columbia) and also nearly the same distance south, through the rich valleys to the California State line He is looking hale and hearty, and speaks of the Webfoot State in glowing terms, saying the people are industrious and intelligent the climate all that can be desired, and the country for its natural beauty and general productiveness unsurpassed When Colonel Saxe left in July he took with him a herd of Kentucky short horns which he has sold at prices hardly remunerative Nevertheless he is well pleased with his trip

A correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle under date of the 4th says The wrecked steamer Elida left Empire City (Coos Bay) on the morning of Dec 11th, in charge of Capt Joseph Foster She had a crew of five men and seven passengers as the Captain told me on the night before he sailed Mrs L W Sprague and her two children, of Marshfield were among the number I am under the impression that there was also another lady passenger, from North Bend The Elida was loaded with coal, and for that reason hers could not have been the hull seen by the bark Prince of Wales on the 27th, that wreck was undoubtedly that of some vessel in ballast for no coal laden vessel will float bottom upwards as reported In my opinion the Elida either came in collision with the wreck reported and sank at once or else both vessels were wrecked in the great southeast gale which prevailed from Dec 12th to 16th inclusive The Elida was a comparatively new vessel built in Puget Sound and owned by Capt Mattson of San Francisco She was insured for $8 000—less than half her actual value.

The Dallas Republican has the following concerning an Oregon pioneer Mr Willis Jenkins who has been residing east of the mountains for a good many years returned last Monday to Dallas Mr Jenkins will be remembered by some of the old settlers He came across the plains in 1844 and settled on the Luckiamute on the place now owned by Thos Hart In 1852, when the town of Dallas was laid out on the hill north of its present site, he moved down, bought property and erected the first house He also built the first store and started the first hotel in the old town of Dallas The old gentleman has quite a fund of reminiscences When he was a resident of Dallas, 21 years ago, J W Nesmith and Henry Owens owned the only grist mill (which was situated at [illegible] the three miles above here) between Oregon City and California People then came with long pack trains of mules from Southern Oregon and Yreka for flour There was at that time hardly a settler on the river bottoms on this side It was then that they hung men here for a pastime that Dave Logan was a promising young lawyer Senator Nesmith a miller and Judge Deady a schoolmaster We could go on and give reminiscences that are familiar to Mr Jenkins and which would be interesting and strange to us if space permitted The old gentleman lost his aged wife about two years ago and is now alone his children being married and scattered Of one of them is the wife of Henry Howe of this place another—Henry Jenkins—is a minister in the Methodist Church

THE BRIBERS' ORGAN AS A PROPHET

The Bulletin can scarcely be called a success in the prophesying business unless success consists in the extent to which the prophesying mania is indulged without reference to the question of fulfillment. But if this is to be the standard then indeed, is the ring organ eminently successful. It never allows an opportunity for making a prediction to pass unimproved and we have no recollection of its ever making a prediction in which subsequent events did not prove it to be a false prophet. Prophesying is one form of the blustering and vaporing which the ring organ employs in the place of reason, and goes for just as much as any other form of the same article—and no more. Its main argument last fall for the indorsement of the famous Hipple resolution was that there was no doubt the people were going to indorse it and that too by a large majority. When the election came the people, instead of the predicted indorsement, gave an overwhelming repudiation. Then we got into a difficulty with Spain about the capture, by one of her war steamers, of a piratical craft called the Virginius, which, through false affidavits, had become possessed of American sailing papers and was sailing under the American flag, and forthwith the Bulletin joining with all the reckless clamorers of the country, shouted itself hoarse in demanding an immediate declaration of war with Spain, and enforcing the demand with bloodthirsty prophecies as to what this Christian nation was certain to do to unchristian Spain and with barbarous Cuba. Well, the sequel was the pre-eminently Christian administration of the eminently Christian government of this Christian country did not see the matter in just that light and went diligently about endeavoring to arrange the trouble amicably, and, after a little big-boy-over little boy negotiation succeeded in adjusting the affair upon terms which the President notwithstanding the adverse opinion of the ring organ, actually said he considered honorable to both. This Christian nation did not chastise Spain and gobble up Cuba. In fact, it did not do either of these things. It simply seized the Virginius—which it afterwards acknowledged it had no right to do—and demanded an agreement that Spain should, at some time or other, salute the American flag—an empty form which, empty as it was, the Administration afterwards acknowledged it had no right to demand, and actually did not require to be carried out. Events "went back on" another prophecy. Then Judge Williams was named for Chief Justice. Every thing was going smoothly, but the Judge in an evil hour allowed himself to be used with the power of his office of Attorney General, to thwart the execution of the laws in Oregon, in order to save members of the ring from the penitentiary, and a storm arose about him that threatened to defeat him in the Senate. "Pooh!" blustered the ring paper, 'only Gibbs' head has dropped off, that's nothing, Williams will surely be confirmed, and that speedily." But he was not confirmed "speedily or otherwise"—to borrow the phrase of the lawyers. He was defeated, and the ring organ wailed in the most piteous strains. And mistaking its grievance for the grievance of the Administration, it declared only last Saturday that this wound to the President was so deep that he would not nominate any body for the position. Grant was to take the sulks because a little ring of one-horse politicians out here in Oregon had got a set-back, and was to vindicate their cause by refusing to do his duty under the constitution and laws of the country and the obligations of his oath of office. Hipple demanded this of him. But the President did not accept the role assigned to him. He simply snubbed Hipple, snuffed out the hopes of the ring, and proved the ring organ's prediction false before the ink was cold with which it was written, by sending in a nomination, and such a nomination too, as the ring of Oregon, or any other clique of selfish and unscrupulous political knaves would never have made and could never approve. The ring organ would better seek out some other shift to supply the place of reason. This prophesying business of the Bulletin's is a ridiculous failure. Better fall back to the "gangrened malignity," and "glass eye" arguments. These are exactly suited to the intellectual capacity of the editor of the bribers' organ. He never can become successful in forecasting events. To do that requires intellect—brains.

CALEB CUSHING FOR CHIEF JUSTICE.

The President has nominated Caleb Cushing for Chief-Justice of the United States. Mr Cushing was born at Salisbury, Massachusetts, in the year 1800 and is consequently in his seventy fourth year. It is needless to say that he is one of the most eminent jurists of the nation. In many high public positions he has served the Government faithfully, and with great credit to himself and his country.

But his appointment it seems is unsatisfactory to the politicians, and there will be a stormy debate when the question of confirmation comes up. The dispatch does not state what objection the politicians urge against the appointment. Possibly his great age may be considered as a ground for opposing the confirmation, as the result would probably be to cause the chair to become vacant again before the expiration of the current Presidential term. At all events, it is pretty safe to predict that there will be no floodgates of calumny opened on him, or at the very least that if such floodgates should be opened it will not be at Mr Cushing's request that the investigation ceases before the world is shown that what pours through those gates is indeed calumny and not truth.

Iowa Grangers have begun the work of carrying the precepts of their Order into practice. At a recent meeting of the State Grange a harvester patent was purchased and measures taken for starting a manufactory. Resolutions were adopted in favor of purchasing no more agricultural implements from Illinois rings and denouncing the acceptance of railway passes by legislators.

A NOTABLE CHANGE.

The transfer of the New York Independent by H. C. Bowen to parties in the interest of Dr Tallmadge is announced. Mr Bowen has been so long familiar to the wide circle of readers of the Independent that they will part with him as with a most interesting acquaintance. The Independent has no superior as a literary and religious weekly, and there is no other paper of its class that exerts nearly the same influence that it wields. By its fearless discussion of political questions from the point of their moral bearings it has made itself felt in the political as well as in the religious world, and more than a few persons outside the Christian church will watch with no little interest to see what its course is to be under the new regime. Dr Tallmadge is said to be one of the most advanced thinkers in the church and he certainly possesses the ability, if he should take charge of the paper in person, to make it all that it has been editorially. We were about to say he might make it even greater than it has been. But when we consider that its chief excellence has been in the moral tone of its columns we can scarcely hope for perceptible improvement. Whatever wrong Bowen may have done Beecher, he has done the rest of the world an invaluable service by making one of its most influential journals a constant advocate and example of the uniting of the most liberal exercise of the intellectual powers with the most exalted moral and religious sentiments.

WHAT THE FARMERS WANT.

A Washington special to the Chicago Inter-Ocean says those members of Congress who have the best claims to represent the farmers' movement give the following as the main points of legislation which will be demanded of Congress on behalf of the Grangers:

First—The opening of the mouth of the Mississippi to large vessels in such a manner as to insure their entrance and egress at all stages of water without difficulty.

Second—Legislation to prevent railways west of the Mississippi river from discriminating in their rates of freight against points on the river and in favor of all railway points beyond thus making it possible for the farmers to avail themselves of cheap water transportation.

Third—Legislation to prevent similar discrimination by roads running east and west against north and south, thus preventing the farmers, when the Mississippi is frozen, from sending their grain southward on the railways until an open river is reached.

Fourth—Legislation for fixing rates for the transportation of live stock on the railroads from west to east.

This is the only article they will ask to have rates fixed upon, and the reason for asking this is that it is the only important article of their products that must come by rail to the East. The only legislation involving money to be asked for is the opening of the north part of Mississippi by withdrawing expenditures from less important works.

The Grangers have not fully imbibed the spirit of the age. The railway rings never allow themselves to stop with asking what is reasonable and right, and what will be of general benefit to the country. Their demands are always in the nature of private grabs, and the amount they reach for is usually large enough to warrant them in bringing to bear whatever "influence" is necessary to get their jobs through.

In the resolution introduced in the House on the 6th inst by Mr. Luttrell, of California, instructing the Attorney General of the United States to bring suit for the recovery of accrued and accruing interest paid and to be paid by the Government for the Pacific railway companies, it is recited that the following amounts have already been advanced to these companies: To the Central Pacific $25,885 120, to the Kansas Pacific $6,303 000, to the Union Pacific $27 236,512, to the Central Branch Union Pacific $1 600 000, to the Western Pacific, $1,970 560, and to the Sioux City and Pacific $1 628 320—making a grand total of $64 623 512. In addition to this enormous sum the general government during the past eight or nine years has paid $20,447,986 25 in the shape of interest on the bonds of these companies. To-day there is due a further sum of $1 292,170 29 interest not yet paid. While the Forty third Congress is studying the best means of economizing the expenses of our government without offending the office holders it would do well to stop this leak. It is a steal, and nothing satisfactory will ever be done in this direction until our national legislature lays a heavy hand on the enterprising individuals whose much extolled prowess as public benefactors has been protecting the larceny for years. The Stanfords and Lathams and Scotts have realized enormous fortunes, and their greed will never be satiated. Rather like Oliver Twist they are continually crying for "More!"

The terrible, inexcusable blunder by which nearly three hundred lives were sacrificed in the sinking of the Ville du Havre has called the attention of business men on both sides of the Atlantic to the consideration of methods for the prevention of collision. The New York Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting, adopted the following resolutions on this subject:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to draft a memorial to Congress praying it to take early measures in concert with the governments of other maritime nations to so order the outward and inward courses of steam vessels upon the Atlantic as to diminish the daily growing danger of collisions, now the chief perils of the sea.

Resolved, That the same committee be requested to report upon the feasibility of using electric lights upon ocean steamers for still further security from collisions and the propriety of requiring that the cabins and passages shall be always lighted at night by lights inaccessible to the passengers but which may be observed by them at will.

Several of the ocean lines have attempted to reassure the public by publishing the established routes which their vessels are instructed to pursue in the transatlantic voyage. The Cunard line advertises its course as follows: On the outward passage from Queenstown to New York or Boston crossing meridian of 50 at 43 latitude or nothing to the north of 43; on the homeward passage crossing meridian of 50 at 42 latitude or nothing to the north of 42.

A Washington dispatch of January [illegible] says that on that day the President visited the Capitol and was in consultation with leaders of the Republican party in the House, and subsequently with members of the Senate Judiciary Committee. The dispatch adds: The object of the visit is said to have been to obtain an expression of opinion in regard to Attorney General Williams' nomination. The President got that information and on the following day a message withdrawing the nomination was sent in to the Senate.

Governor Kellogg's message to the Louisiana Legislature shows the total State debt to be $21 283 000, some of which is of doubtful legality, and is now being tested by the Courts. Mr K remarks that the State has paid interest on the whole amount to date but can do so no longer without maintaining a rate of taxation which will amount to confiscation. Well confiscate, who cares! It's only Louisiana anyway.

We learn from a New York dispatch that Judge S D Morris who received the infernal machine a few days since has been engaged in prosecuting ballot box stuffers and repeaters in Brooklyn, New York. His case was out of the jurisdiction of the Attorney General of the United States in anything but a torpedo could reach him. Perhaps the District Attorney in Oregon has been extremely fortunate after all.

MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 1[illegible] 1874

UNACCOUNTABLE DISAPPEARANCE —Considerable uneasiness is felt among the many friends of Mr W H C Macrum, a well known accountant of Portland in reference to his strange unaccountable disappearance from Olympia and his protracted absence from this city Mr Macrum left Portland on December 20th in company with Mr Ernest Leigh of the St Charles Hotel with the intention of visiting Victoria They arrived at Tenino on the evening of the 20th remained over night and reached Olympia on Sunday the 21st They were to start for Victoria on Monday morning. On Sunday evening Mr Macrum told Mr Leigh that he had abandoned the idea of going on to Victoria that he had concluded to stop a few days in Olympia and then return to Portland Early the next morning Leigh took the steamer for Victoria leaving Macrum at Olympia During the conversation last had between the two Macrum told his companion that he would return to Portland on Monday or Tuesday and Wednesday at the latest They then separated On the 29th of December Mr Leigh returned to Olympia from Victoria He did not make any inquiries at the former place supposing of course that Macrum had returned to Portland When he reached Tenino he learned for the first time that Macrum had not started for this city at all It seems that he left the hotel on the forenoon of Monday (22d) and had not been seen since He left considerable baggage at the hotel where he was stopping When last seen he was walking out of the hotel did not say a word to any one as to where he was going or anything else Since then letters have been addressed to prominent persons in Olympia and other points along the Sound, making earnest inquiries as to his whereabouts No response has been received to any of these letters He had no particular business so far as is known which could detain him and the leaving of his baggage at the hotel is an indication that all is not right On no reasonable or satisfactory grounds can his disappearance or prolonged absence be accounted Apprehensions are entertained by his friends who are making diligent efforts to discover his whereabouts

CAME BACK.—All our readers will remember the man, Jas Brown who sawed off an iron bar at the City Jail and effected an escape some time last fall There was confined at the same time in the jail another person who also bore the name of Brown This man who by way of distinction we shall designate Brown No 2 had deserted from a ship then in port and was arrested by the United States Marshal He had been tried and sentenced to a number of days imprisonment When Brown No 1 who was arrested on suspicion of having engaged in vending silver-plated ware without first obtaining the consent of the owner of the aforesaid ware was committed to jail, Brown No 2 had eight more days to serve out and Brown No 1 expressed to No 2 a wholesome disgust at the outrageous restraint thus put upon a gentleman and an American citizen and cooly vowed he would not remain in such a horrible place longer than a good file would allow an exit The good file was forthcoming at the time required and the slender bar was severed off in a few minutes Turning the rod one side, Brown No 1 gently insinuated his sylph like form between the grates and once more was a free man, and No. 2 to whom desertion was a sort of second nature, determined to follow his deliverer Like the foxes in poetry, he forced his bulky form through the narrow aperture and went out with a squeeze and a grin Both members of the Brown family hastily shook Portland mud from their No 10 brogans and started for French Prairie Above Woodburn these worthies parted company The subsequent history of Brown No 1 is doubtless well known to our readers He entered a gentleman's house during his absence, near Eugene by way of the window (as the door was locked), and despoiled the family gods For this trivial offense he got five years at the Hotel De-Cross-Bars His companion—No 2—hung round the country until a few days ago, when imagining that the little affair down here had blown over and been forgotten, he came back yesterday In a few hours he found himself once more safely housed in the city jail where he will have to serve out his remaining eight days, or file off another bar

HINTS ABOUT BEHAVIOR —Central Market is certainly an attractive place on Saturday evening, when to the ordinary inducements are added those other allurements of good music and a large crowd It is certainly the privilege of every one to attend this place of weekly rendezvous But while this is the case, no one should go there who is deficient in ordinary breeding, or who is unwilling to conduct himself in a decent manner, especially in the presence of ladies of whom there are generally a large number Persons who make a practice of congregating every Saturday evening at the Central Market and disregard every rule of propriety and exhibit traits of rowdyism of which even an Indian ought to blush should under no circumstance be tolerated We are led to make these remarks from the fact that frequent complaints are made in reference to the conduct of a crowd of boys—we might say men, for some of them are 18 years of age and even older These persons congregate in numbers about the entrances to the Market, and conduct themselves in a manner deserving of severe condemnation When ladies enter or depart from the Market, these hoodlums will gape at ogle them out of countenance and no sooner are their backs turned, than these men boys will wink, laugh nudge each other and make some impertinent remark with unmistakeable reference Some of these boys are very respectably connected and have certainly been reared better For the present we shall only advert in general terms to this growing and intolerable nuisance but if the practice is continued we shall feel constrained to give names Complaints of this nature have reached the ears of the police, and some of these very smart young chaps may have the pleasure of passing the night in the City Jail if they are not careful The safest best and most judicious course for these boys to pursue is to conduct themselves like gentlemen or else stay away altogether A word to the wise etc

FATHER MATHEW SOCIETY —At a meeting held last Thursday evening by the Father Matthew T A B Society the following officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing term —six months President Father Glorieux Vice-President J J Bryan Secretary John Atkinson Recording Secretary P Kearney Corresponding Secretary, P J Funk Treasurer Wm Courtney Trustees J J Bryan M Owens J Collins P Kearney and William Healey Executive Committee J J Bryan, M Owens Wm Courtney Thos Kearney James Collins Jos McNamara and P O Lurke Finance and Auditing Committee M Owens J Fitzpatrick and J J Bryan Committee on sickness Jos McNamara Dan McGill James Shevalin Tim Collins J Sman Wm Healy and E B Hill

OREGONIAN ABROAD —In an Indiana exchange of a late date we find the following

Mr Orlando Packard of Portland Oregon is visiting his old home and numerous friends in Plymouth He has been in Oregon something over five years and has been very much improved in health by his residence in the far West His father is living in Walla Walla W T and contemplates giving his Plymouth friends a visit ere long Orlando likes the West and proposes making it his permanent abode

DIED —Mr W I Winters a well known painter in this city died last Friday of consumption and was buried yesterday He was a printer by occupation but some years since abandoned that craft and took up painting This occupation did not agree with him and finally led to an incurable pulmonary disease of which he died after a protracted illness

STEAMER —The steamer California arrived here last evening from Sitka and way ports She was delayed some days by the rough weather which accounts for her long voyage She brought a fair cargo of oil skins etc and several passengers The steamer Idaho from San Francisco is due here but had not put in an appearance as we go to press

WAITING TO GET OUT —Weather at the mouth of the Columbia is still reported very boisterous There are at present eleven vessels lying at Astoria all waiting anxiously to get out to sea It is so exceedingly rough that the tugs cannot venture without much hazard with the vessels bound seaward

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL

ANNUAL [illegible]

The following synopsis of reports and proceedings of the annual meeting will be interesting to many of our readers

An appropriate address was delivered by Dr Lindsley pastor of the School The Superintendent Mr Wm Wadhams presented his Seventh Annual Report The School was organized in 1860 and several of those who were among its members then are still engaged in it

During the year 1873 death has called us to mourn over the loss of Misses Carter Elizabeth Burton and Miranda J Graham Lewis Sprague I Holman an officer and W I Abrams teacher

The number of scholars admitted to full membership in the Church was mentioned and the ardent hope expressed that many more would follow them during the present year

The School has been liberally supplied with books and papers Whole number of volumes in the Library 687 The books are getting old and the Library needs replenishing The School has contributed two hundred dollars and thirty cents for benevolent objects besides which it has made donations of books and papers to other schools

The report of the Secretary Mr J Dill Du Bois was statistical and suggestive The roll consists of 3 officers 29 teachers and 276 scholars infant class 60 average attendance 180 Teachers meetings were recommended A selection of choice books for the library to the exclusion of trash was also urged Elegant editions of the Scriptures had been presented to pupils who had recited the Catechism from memory Reference was again made to those whom death had separated from us and the lessons which the year's review should inculcate were not forgotten

The reports were highly interesting and were heard with close attention

The following are the officers for the current year Appointed by the session—Wm Wadhams Superintendent Elected by the School—M Heno Assistant Superintendent J D DuBois, Secretary Fred Strong Librarian A S Winton, Assistant Librarian Fred A Bancroft, Assistant Secretary Gen F B Babbitt Treasurer

AMUSEMENTS.

Vivian assisted by Madame Keiffarth, vocalist Madame Muse pianist, and G W Jester "the man with the talking hand" gave their first entertainment at Oro Fino Theater on Saturday afternoon to a large audience In the evening the house was well filled The performance seemed to give satisfaction, particularly the parlor entertainment of Jester Vivian introduced several new songs, and the ones he has sung on previous occasions were rendered with better effect. Local hits were occasionally given and they, as they usually do had a tendency to bring down the house We observed a great many strangers in the audience who, together with our own amusement loving citizens were highly delighted with the entertainment The farewell performance of Vivian and troupe is announced to take place this evening, when Vivian will introduce 'Sarah Walker' and other specialties entirely new to this public Seats can be secured at Gray's Music Store from 9 A M to 5 P M This will be the last opportunity to hear Vivian and his troupe

The hurdle race which came off at the Skating Rink, last Saturday evening attracted a very large crowd There was a great degree of interest felt in the result of the contest among the crowds of spectators, and particularly by the friends of the several persons who entered for the prize The contestants were Capt R H Thompson Charles Mead, Ed Tracy and Henry Burke A few minutes past 9 o'clock the race began First the floor was cleared of all skaters and three hurdles, consisting of long bags of canvas stuffed with hay were placed around the outer edge of the Rink Those entering for the prize were required to pass seven times around the Rink leaping each time over the hurdles The one making the best time was of course the winner, and was to be awarded the prize The last skater was to be given a leather medal When the signal was announced the contestants drew up in a line and when the word was given all four started off abreast Capt Thompson from the start led the van However on the second round Mead passed his three rivals and to the end of the race held the lead On the second round, Burk stumbled and fell and on the third round Thompson followed Burk's example Burk continued on until the end of the race but Thompson gave up the race after falling On the last round Mead came in nearly one round ahead of the rest Burk followed next and Tracy brought up the rear Mead of course carried off the prize which consisted of a neat gold badge with the words "First prize for the Hurdle Race" and Thompson was decided to be the last man and was awarded the leather medal

SUDDEN DEATH.

About 4 30 o clock on Saturday afternoon a man named Daniel Fitzpatrick was found lying on the sidewalk near the Occidental Hotel in a beastly state of intoxication He was picked up by the police and removed to the city jail After being in jail several hours he began to complain of feeling unwell He was asked by one of the officers what was the matter with him to which he replied that he had been drinking very hard for several weeks Nothing was thought of his complaint, as it is a common thing for persons to complain of feeling bad when placed in jail and getting over a protracted debauch However Fitzpatrick continued to grow worse until his sickness assumed a very serious form He began to drink large quantities of water and grew worse Yesterday morning about 6 o clock he expired apparently in great pain Early in the forenoon the body was removed to the undertakers and Coroner Dyer notified That officer repaired to the place a jury was summoned and an inquest held over the remains Witnesses were examined and also the body of the deceased after which a verdict was rendered Substantially the verdict was that Fitzpatrick came to his death from the combined causes of hard drink and exposure Deceased was aged about 40 years Several years ago he was employed by the O S N Co and worked at his trade—ship carpenter—at the bone yard and at Celilo He was an industrious and competent workman but subject to periodical fits of intemperance Some four months ago Fitzpatrick came from San Francisco since which time he has been living in and about Portland He was respectably connected in San Francisco where a number of his relatives now reside At the time of his death Fitzpatrick was a widower his wife having died several years ago He was destitute of means but his friends propose to give the remains a decent burial Funeral will take place this afternoon from the undertakers

VANCOUVER ITEMS

The search for young Healy who so mysteriously disappeared from the island has at last been abandoned all hope of his recovery being given up

Vancouver has an amateur band of minstrels Their first appearance was announced for Saturday evening the 10th inst If rehearsals are effective this band ought to be in splendid training

Mike Hartigan who is in jail charged with the murder of Mr Volkwinkle sold his farm last Friday to Peter Rogers Having also disposed of the most of his personal property he is now ready to travel—providing in all cases he can shuffle off his shackles The jailor will undoubtedly keep a close watch of him

Miss Nickels an efficient teacher of music who has resided here for the past five years took her departure on Friday morning last to take charge of the musical department of the Seminary at Olympia Her many friends here regret her leaving but wish her success in her new position and will welcome her return when she tires of the clams and city of Olympia

A noticeable feature in the various agencies of producing change on the face of our globe is the continual cutting away of the north bank of the Columbia from Vancouver to the mouth of the Willamette From some cause the current is forced against the north bank which in many places is cut away at the rate of at least ten feet a year In some places but a narrow space intervenes between the river and a deep slough This slough known as Lake river has a deep channel extending from nearly opposite St Helens to within a few miles of Vancouver and the slough extends though little less in depth to the lower part of the town A few obstructions placed in the river on the opposite side or a little cutting away of the bank on this side before the next high water would turn the channel of the river into Lake river It would be a rough joke if we were obliged to go all the way to St Helens to find the mouth of the Willamette especially when the Columbia is frozen over The thing must be stopped

While passing the Government storehouse a day or two ago we noticed several boxes prepared for shipment to Philadelphia Upon inquiry we learned that they contained between four and five hundred army overcoats of an old pattern which are probably intended to be changed to a more modern style The boxes are made of fir nicely dressed and matched together and lined with packing paper saturated with some substance to prevent the entrance of moths The packing done at this post under the supervision of Colonel H W Janes Depot Quartermaster is equal if not superior to any done in the East Mr Tripp carpenter and Mr Eddings storekeeper have been at this post for a long time and thoroughly understand their business Neither dust moisture nor vermin can penetrate to the clothing and we doubt if it would sustain any injury if stored for twenty years From the immense amount of repacking and shipping done here the Depot Quartermaster occupies an important and responsible position, and for many years the duties of the position have not been so carefully and faithfully performed as at present

MONDAY MORNING JANUARY 12 1874

OVER THE DAM

[illegible] BENNETT

Yes life is a swift runnin river
An' it's mighty hard steerin' against its tide
But the boat glides so smoothly a-startin
Th' [illegible] feel jest like lettin' it glide
[illegible] hear the wild roar of the rapids
[illegible] you know they're under and break
[illegible] you think you can easily pull back
When you see their white foam in your wake

Well with me it was mighty smooth sailin'
Durin all of life's first summer hours
An' the river ran [illegible] gently
An' its banks were so brilliant with flowers
While the bow that hung over the current
Seemed a halo that beckoned me there
And the white mist that rose from its waters
Quite concealed the black gulf of despair

To be sure I passed them as I drifted
Pullin sturdily up against the stream
But I laughed as I saw how they labored
While my boat danced along like a dream
What mattered which way it was glidin —
If I sailed with it up or sailed down —
Behind I saw only life's struggles
And before me was pleasure—life's crown

I say I passed them as I pulled up stream
[illegible] warned me of danger below
But advice is so cheap that when given
It amounts to jest nothin' you know
An' experience—well that's of some value
[illegible] always wisdom it brings
I've got it—you're right—this a nettle
And I plucked it at cost of its stings

It's tough lookin up that bright river
An' I seein' where I might have turned back
To think that I took this [illegible]
Lettin everything go to the rack
But I'm here now jest as you find me
And I'm—well you can see what I am
I drifted you know, with the current,
And of course I went over the dam

THE VIRGINIUS

SOME REMINISCENCES OF THE CRAFT—PRESIDENT GRANT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS—THE WAY THE THING WAS DONE—SOME OF THE CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN SICKLES AND FISH

WASHINGTON, Jan 5 —The President to day sent to the Senate and House the following message "In my annual message of last December I gave some reason to expect that when the full and accurate text of the correspondence in relation to the Virginius, which had been telegraphed in cypher should be received the papers concerning the capture of the vessel and the execution of part of the passengers and crew and the restoration of the ship and her survivors, should be sent to Congress In compliance with the expectations then held out I now transmit the correspondence on that subject On the 26th day of September 1870, the Virginius was registered in the Custom House of New York as the property of a citizen of the United States he first having made oath as required by law that he was the true and only owner of the said vessel, and that there was no subject or citizen of a foreign Power secretly directly or indirectly, by way of confidence, or trust, or otherwise interested Therein having complied with the requisites of the statute in that behalf she cleared in the usual way for the port of Curacoa, and on or about the 4th day of October 1870 sailed for that port It is not disputed that she made the voyage according to her clearance and from that day to this she has not returned within the TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

It is also understood that she preserved her nationality which was recognized by the authorities at such port When she left Kingston in October last, under the United States flag she would appear to have had, against all Powers except the United States the right to carry that flag and to claim its protection as enjoyed by all registered vessels No state of war existed conferring upon a maritime Power the right to molest or detain upon the high seas a document vessel, and it cannot be pretended that the Virginius had put herself without the pale of all laws by

ACTS OF PIRACY AGAINST THE HUMAN RACE

If her papers were regular If fraudulent, the offense was one against the laws of the United States When therefore, it became known that she had been captured on the high seas by a Spanish man of war and that the American flag had been hauled down by her captors that the vessel had been carried to a Spanish port and that Spanish tribunals were taking jurisdiction over persons found on her and exercising that jurisdiction upon American citizens not only in violation of international law but in contravention of the treaty of 1795 I directed that a demand be made upon Spain for the restoration and return of the vessel and her survivors to the protection of the United States for a salute to our flag, and for the punishment of the offending parties The principles on which these demands rested could not be seriously questioned, but it was suggested by the Spanish Government that

THERE WERE GRAVE DOUBTS

Whether the Virginius was entitled to the character given her by the papers, and therefore it might be proper for the United States, after the surrender of the vessel and the survivors to dispense with the salute to the flag should the facts be established to their satisfaction This seemed to be reasonable and just I therefore presented an assurance to that effect if Spain would then declare that no insult to the flag of the United States was intended I also authorized the agreement to be made that should it be shown to the satisfaction of this Government that the Virginius was

UNLAWFULLY BEARING OUR FLAG

Proceedings should be instituted in our courts for the punishment of the offense committed against the United States, and I undertook to proceed against those who had offended the United States laws or violated their treaty rights The surrender of the vessel and survivors to the jurisdiction of the tribunals of United States was an admission of the principle on which our claim had been founded I, therefore had no hesitation in agreeing to the arrangement finally made between the two Governments, an agreement which was moderate and just and calculated to cement the good relations which have so long existed between Spain and the United States Under this agreement the Virginius

WITH THE AMERICAN FLAG FLYING,

Was delivered to the navy of the United States at Bahia Honda on the 16th ultimo She was in an unseaworthy condition and on the passage to New York she encountered one of the most tempestuous gales The officers and crew in charge of her attempted to keep her afloat at the risk of their lives But their efforts proved unavailing, and she sank off Cape Fear

The prisoners who survived the massacre were surrendered at Santiago de Cuba and on the 19th ult. reached the port of New York in safety

The evidence submitted on the part of Spain to establish the fact that the Virginius at the time of her capture was improperly bearing the flag of the United States is transmitted herewith together with the opinion of the Attorney General thereon and a copy of the note of the Spanish Minister, expressing on behalf of his Government, a disclaimer of any intent of indignity to the United States

U S GRANT

THE DOCUMENTS

The following are among the documents accompanying the President's message relative to the Virginius affair

No 1 is a telegram of November 7th from Fish to Sickles calling for summary proceedings in the case of the Virginius prisoners and demanding an investigation as reparation would be required if American citizens had been wrongfully executed

No 6 is from Sickles to Fish dated November 28th and gives a detailed account of an interview with the Spanish Minister of State, who says that no formal demand on the part of the United States will be necessary as the Spanish Government will at once take up the question and decide it The case of the Deerhound is cited and the same principles will be applied to the Virginius Imperative orders have been sent from Madrid to close the proceedings

THE BRITISH SUBJECTS AMONG THE CAPTIVES

No 35 is a telegram from Sickles to Fish, dated Madrid November 16th as follows

Mr Layard informs me that he has received instructions from his Government concerning seventeen British subjects among the crew of the Virginius, six of whom were executed at once and seven more are under sentence of death A British frigate is ordered to Santiago

THE TRIBULATIONS OF SICKLES

No. 48 is from Sickles to Fish dated Madrid November 20th and reads as follows Popular feeling runs high here against [illegible] and others of the Legation The press [illegible] and advises the Government to order me out of Spain Last night a mob was collected to attack the Legation The authorities interfered to preserve peace

No. 10 is from Sickles to Fish, dated Madrid, November 19th, as follows Spain has asked the good offices of England Lord Granville has declined unless on a basis of ample reparation made to the United States

No 13 is a telegram from Fish to Sickles of November 20th in which the latter is instructed to protest against the execution of the prisoners as barbarous but is confidentially informed that doubts exist as to the right of the Virginius to carry the American flag

No 31 is a telegram of November 2[illegible] from Fish to Sickles as follows If no accommodation is reached by the next day he is to leave If [illegible] refer it to Washington and await an answer

No 60 is from Sickles to Fish November 2[illegible] [illegible] the substance of [illegible] communication received from the Minister of State [illegible] for adjustment

No 6[illegible] from Sickles to Fish November 28th says I have reason to think the Spanish Government will yield [illegible] and hope to announce the result this afternoon

No 7[illegible] is a telegram from Fish to Sickles November 3d It says [illegible] from your dispatches that you have left Madrid, the answer to the late Spanish proposal has been made to Admiral Polo at Washington

No 8 is a telegram from Fish to Sickles of December 2d, instructing him to express to the Minister of State the President's disappointment at the delay in carrying out the agreement and that he looks for the immediate execution of it

No 103 comprises the correspondence between the Secretary of State and Admiral Polo commencing November 12th and ending January 3d

November 23d Admiral Polo indorses a note from Madrid that the reported hostile demonstrations against Sickles are not true Various memoranda of talk between Fish and Polo are given, Fish on the part of the United States refusing any arrangement which did not include the surrender of the vessel and finally a protocol of conference was signed on November 27th

On December 10th Admiral Polo submits to Fish evidence to show that the Virginius at the time of her capture was not entitled to the United States flag this includes the deposition of various parties

On December 22d, Fish to Polo states that it having been established that the vessel was not entitled to carry our flag at the time of capture the salute will be dispensed with and in accordance with the terms of the protocol proceedings will be commenced against parties implicated

The correspondence with the United States Consul in Cuba is also submitted The rest of the list is under date of January 3d, from Polo to Fish offering on behalf of his Government a disclaimer of any intention of indignity to our flag

The calendar week now closing has been one of considerable activity in trade circles, and the receipts of produce have been larger than for any period of the same length in the past eight weeks

The opening of all our channels of communication has had the effect of sending forward a constant stream of produce from the interior and unless increased facilities for exportation are afforded it will be but a very few months until every nook available for storage will be filled to its utmost capacity though the several vessels which are loading here have served in a measure to keep the accumulations down
